TO PLAY WITH YOUR OWN BRICKS!

BRICKTIONARY

3+ PLAYERS

Objective: Build a creation out of LEGO that others will guess. Don't make it too obvious, though!

Rules: The first player writes down what they're going to build, then they begin building. Other players guess what the builder is creating as they progress. The first person to guess correctly gets to be the next builder! The builder may not talk or communicate with the other players in any way.

(Optional) You may keep score by allotting a point per correct guess. First to 5 wins!

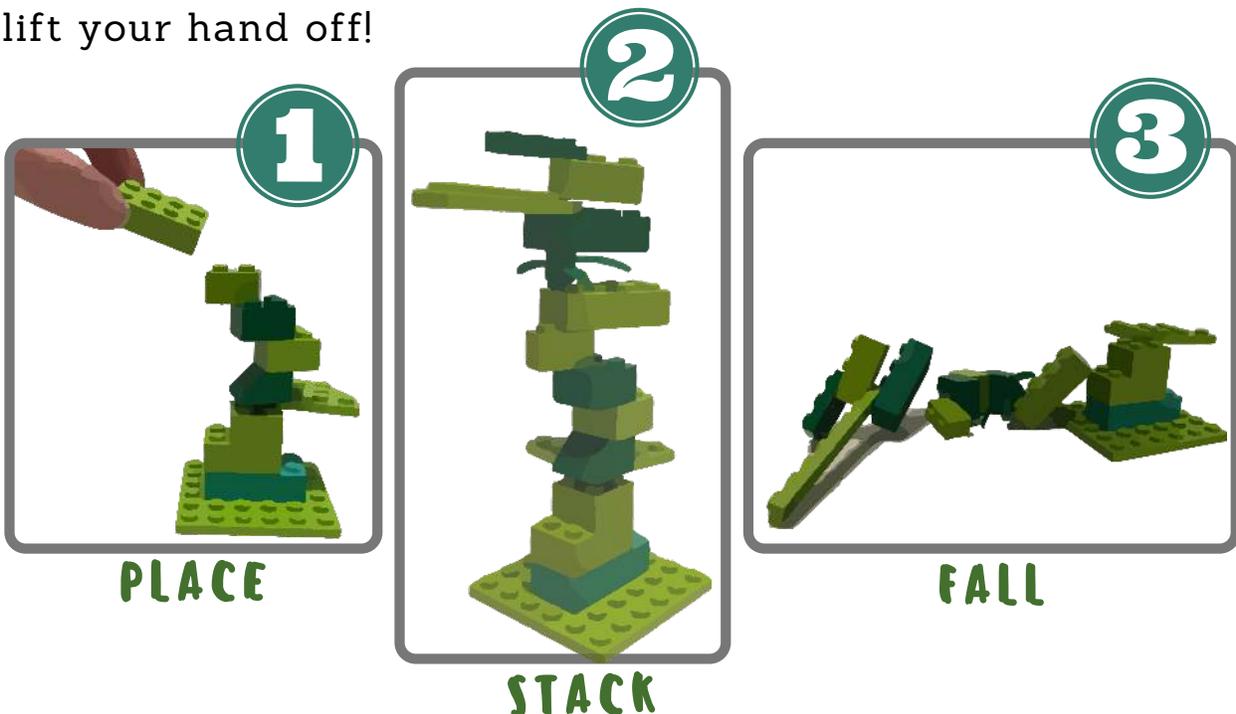

STACK CHALLENGE

2+ PLAYERS

Objective: Do not be the last person to stack a brick when the tower falls.

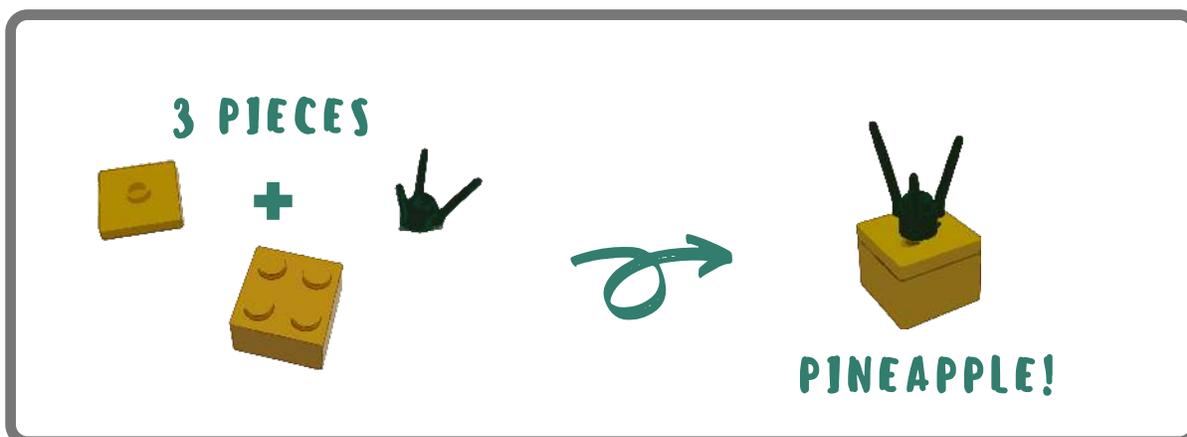

How to play: Starting with one brick placed on a flat surface, each player takes turns adding to the stack, one brick per person. This continues until the stack falls over.

Rules: Each piece must have at least one stud on it. You may place a brick down wherever you wish, as long as you always leave the tower at least one stud's height taller than before. You may hold the tower with your other hand only while placing the piece. You cannot touch it once you lift your hand off!

3-PIECE CHALLENGE

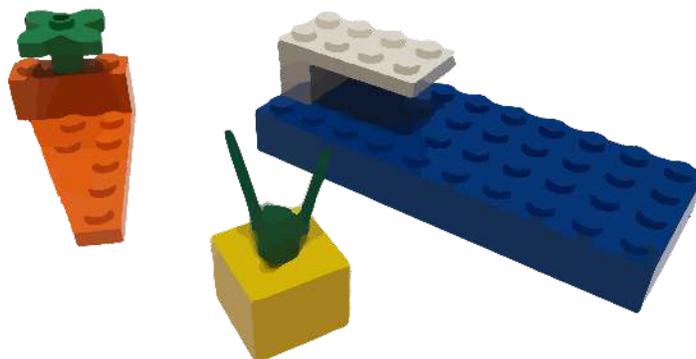

2+ PLAYERS

How to play: Create a miniature build using only 3 LEGO® pieces. These can be very abstract and sometimes pretty silly! Players write down on a piece of paper what their build is. When everyone has finished, all players take turns writing down what they think each build represents. A point is given for each correct guess! First to get 10 points wins.

For a variation of the game, set a timer for 10 minutes. Each player must come up with as many 3-piece builds as they can before the timer runs out! The person with the most builds wins the game!
